Founded in 1990 as a way to celebrate the pioneering work of Founding Artistic Director Mark Howard

Howard's uniquely Irish-American company was the birthplace of progressive Irish dance which "ushered in a new era for Irish step dance" (Chicago Tribune) and opened new avenues of artistic expression that led directly to commercial productions such as Riverdance.

TIDC has performed to critical acclaim on stages throughout the world, with sold-out tours in North America, Europe, and Asia, and appearances in distinguished venues including Washington's Kennedy Center, New York's Joyce Theater, Tokyo's Orchard Hall and Los Angeles's Royce Hall. But home is Chicago's Auditorium Theatre.
